

Monthly Review

The fund continues to be under-exposed to the European equity markets.

We are worried about the concomitance of an economic slowdown – already evident in most-recent macro data – the presence of negative interest rates in most Eurozone economies – soon to be depleted in order not to structurally undermine family savings – and the looming parliamentary elections – likely to bring about destabilizing forces on the process of gradual harmonization of the continent.

The US represents the reference market for both our equity and fixed income portions of the portfolio, and we keep favouring corporate bonds with maturities within 24 months. Our equity exposure currently fluctuates around neutrality (50%), up from an average of 25-30% during the second half of 2018. We do not exclude the possibility to reduce it before April, when 1Q2019 earnings - at risk of negative surprise - will be released.
