

Monthly Review

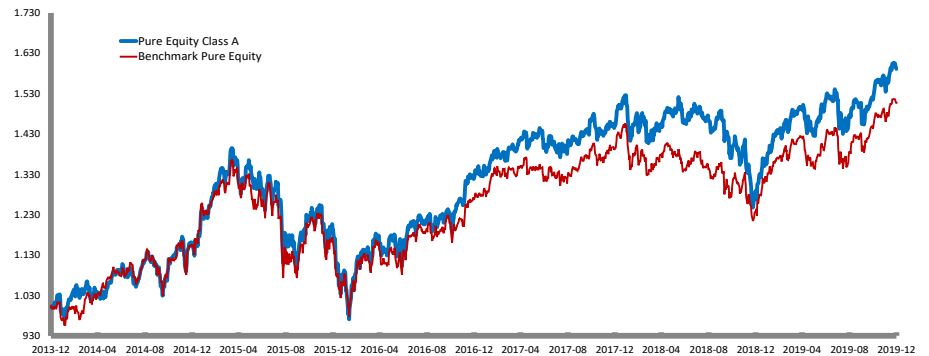

The Fund continues being under-exposed on the Emerging Markets asset class, as we still consider EM unattractive in light of the risk of a global slowdown in 2020. The only exception is China and Turkey where we are equal or small under-weight vs benchmark. The trade tensions between the USA and China are still on the way and the parties agreed to sign a "phase 1" agreement by the end of January 2020, which avoids further retaliations for the time being. New chapters of this story will possibly follow, creating up and down swings in financial markets. Central Bankers are still on hold, and we are increasingly worried on a possible economic global slowdown for the months to come, possibly a minor global recession in the late 2020. Our base scenario is that global equities will remain well supported up until the second quarter of 2020 mostly by monetary stimulus. We are becoming very cautious for the second half of 2020 when a series of negative factors (mainly a pronounced global slowdown) could result in equities corrections of a 10-20% scale. The fund portfolio remains balanced in terms of Value and Growth stocks.
